

Marine aircraft on target; missile downs navy plane

CHERRY POINT, N.C. (AP) — Navy and Marine Corps authorities had widely differing accounts of what led to the shooting down of a Navy jet fighter by a Marine F4 Phantom jet firing unarmed, heat-seeking missiles.

A Marine Corps spokesman said he didn't know what the Navy A4 Skyhawk was doing in the training area over the Atlantic Ocean.

But an official with Atlantic Fleet headquarters, Norfolk, Va., said the accident occurred during a joint Marine-Navy exercise, and that the Skyhawk was participating in the training.

Since the missile was unarmed, the Navy plane did not explode, but crashed into the ocean Friday as a result of the "projectile going through the aircraft," said Capt. James Pendergast of the Cherry Point Marine Air Station public affairs office.

The pilot of the Skyhawk, Navy Lt. Jerome L. Petykowski, 30, stationed at Virginia Beach, Va., ejected safely and was picked up by a Marine search and rescue helicopter after being in the Atlantic Ocean about an hour, the Marine Corps said. He was taken to the Naval Hospital at Cherry Point, treated for minor injuries and released.

The accident occurred at about 10:30 a.m. during a Marine training exercise in restricted airspace about 40 miles southeast of here, Pendergast said.

Pendergast said the Marine plane was firing at an unmanned drone target plane being controlled from the ground by radio.

Supplemented with tax cuts if necessary

Carter cites his first priority: it's jobs still

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Carter said Friday jobs programs are his first preference if the economy needs help next year, supplemented with tax cuts if necessary.

While making it clear that he hasn't made any final decisions, the President-elect told a news conference on the Pentagon steps: "The first priority remains jobs."

"I'd like to move as rapidly as I can with public service jobs, job-training programs and also public works projects," Carter said.

"What I can't do with job opportunities to fill the total amount of stimulus required would be derived through a tax decrease."

Carter spoke with reporters after visiting the Pentagon's secret war room with Vice President-elect Walter F. Mondale. Both were briefed on how it operates.

Carter said Defense Secretary Donald H. Rumsfeld and the Joint Chiefs of Staff told him how to order the use of atomic weapons.

As future commander in chief walked out of the Potomac River entrance to the Pentagon after the briefing, two small groups of demonstrators chanted: "Disarm now, disarm now," and "A future for our children, Jimmy Carter."

Neither Pentagon security officers nor Secret Service agents guarding Carter made any effort to move or silence them. But Gen. George S. Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, glanced at them occasionally with a frown.

With Rumsfeld, Brown and the other service chiefs standing nearby, Carter said in reply to a question that he still believes a $5 billion to $7 billion cut is possible in the Pentagon budget.

He said anew that the cutting is possible through economies. Carter had said during the campaign that such savings were possible without endangering national security.

Carter said he and Mondale ate lunch with Rumsfeld and the Joint Chiefs. The incoming chief executive said the food and coffee were far better than what he was familiar with with as a young Navy officer.

In his remarks about the national economy, Carter appeared to be moving away somewhat from the recommendations he has received over the past 48 hours from a $15-billion tax cut to stimulate the economy.

The large tax reduction has been urged by nearly all of his economic advisers and some of the nation's top business leaders. However, Carter's advisers argued for a temporary tax reduction while the businessmen want a permanent cut.

In making it clear his first preference would be to create jobs, Carter said Congress already has enacted legislation that can be used in such an effort. Already-enacted jobs programs include the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA), which provides training programs, public works jobs and youth employment.

Trucker dies on freeway

A New Jersey trucker fell or jumped to his death Friday on the San Bernardino Freeway in Pomona.

Highway Patrolmen said Arthur Church Jr., 46, of Neptune, N. J., tumbled from the passenger's door of a large truck cab driven by his partner, Claude Collins, 34, also of Neptune, N. J.

Church fell to the freeway shoulder while the truck was westbound near Dudley Street. He suffered extensive head injuries.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at San Dimas Community Hospital.

Poison gas cloud covers 42 miles; 10,000 evacuated

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A leaking tank at a chemical refinery spewed out a 42-mile-long cloud of poisonous gas Friday, prompting the evacuation of 10,000 persons before the leak was choked off.

"The threat is over," Commissioner of Administration Charles Roemer said late Friday night.

Some gas still escaped the chlorine tank at the Allied Chemical Co. plant here, but the lethal chemical was neutralized by a spray of water as it emerged, Roemer said.

The yellow-green cloud that escaped earlier was dissipating in the air, he said.

The gas — the kind used in trench warfare in World War I — can kill in severe doses. Limited exposure can cause respiratory and skin burns.

State police trailed the cloud as it drifted northwestward at about 8 miles per hour. They unblocked roads as they went, clearing the way for residents to return to their homes.

Roemer said some smell might remain in areas passed by the cloud, but that no lethal concentrations remained in areas cleared by the police.

The cloud, clearly visible in state police searchlights, was blowing northwest away from Baton Rouge. At its widest point, the cloud was 4 miles across, shaped like a skinny triangle with its point at the ruptured tank.

There were no reports of injuries.

Six thousand students were moved out of the dormitories at Southern University and taken in buses to the Louisiana State University campus. Another 4,000 persons were evacuated from their homes.

National Guardsmen were ordered to the state penitentiary at Angola in case the gas forced evacuation of the 2,600 prisoners there. Angola is about 30 miles north of Baton Rouge — not directly in the path of the moving cloud, but well within its range if the wind shifts slightly.

The little town of New Roads also was alerted in case the gas forced evacuation there.

Most of the area, however, is rural, mainly sugar cane fields.

The gas is heavier than air and tends to flow into low-lying areas.

Officials said two bus loads of school children, about 120 of them, were delayed on the way home because their bus routes led into areas deemed potentially dangerous.

80 arrested in drug raid

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The vice squad arrested at least 80 students from 11 city high schools Friday in a sweeping raid that culminated a three-month investigation of campus drug traffic.

Police Lt. Dan Cooke said a total of 107 youths had been sought in the raids, which came after six undercover officers purchased large quantities of marijuana, hashish, cocaine, methamphetamines also known as "speed," LSD, barbiturates and the depressant quaalude on and around the campuses over the last 12 weeks.

Gas explosion rocks empty valley house

A gas explosion rocked a vacant Pomona home partially off its foundation Friday evening.

The explosion occurred at about 5:15 p.m. Friday at a home at 2271 W. Orange Grove Ave.

Firemen said the home was almost a total loss. Estimate of damages was placed at $20,000.

The explosion was apparently caused by a gas jet in the kitchen being turned on, with gas building up in the attic and roof area before being touched off by a small fire on the floor.

Glass and other debris was scattered about the neighborhood, with one fragment cutting the arm of Hugh Guild, 13, who lives next door.

He was given first aid at the scene and did not require further medical attention.

Firemen also credited local residents with shutting off the gas in the house and fighting the small fire before firemen were able to reach the scene.

Relocation of water treatment plant urged

By DAN NIEBRUGGE
PB Staff Writer

A $5 million water treatment plant relocation plan which could act as a stop gap measure against possible water shortages and increased pumping costs was introduced Friday by directors of the Pomona Valley Municipal Water District.

Speaking at a press conference at the Castaways restaurant in Pomona, PVMWD Director Stan Kawa outlined the plan which would entail moving the present PVMWD treatment plant at 2930 N. Fulton Rd. in Pomona to a site presently being purchased by the district on Miramar Avenue in Claremont east of Padua Avenue. Kawa told listeners he hopes the relocation plan can be financed through a grant application the district presently has under consideration by the federal Economic Development Administration in Seattle.

Kawa said the increased elevation at the new site would allow the district to utilize gravity for water delivery rather than more expensive pumping. He also noted that some plans estimate the downhill delivery system could include a power generating system which could pay for itself within 10 years by selling electrical power to the Edison Company.

Last year, the PVMWD lost a $35 million bond election which would have supplied money for the construction of two new treatment plants in the district, one north of Claremont and the other near Diamond Bar, as well as supplying several pipeline completions in the district. Kawa estimates costs of the same proposals would now run to about $42 million.

The relocation proposal is what Kawa called an interim measure which would cut pumping costs and provide additional water to Claremont, La Verne and San Dimas where high nitrate concentrations demand blending well water with low nitrate level imported water.

Because of the drought presently affecting the valley, said Kawa, the district's resources for water are working at capacity and, in some instances, slightly beyond capacity. Water shortages, he said, could cause the district to over draft its supply and begin using water which does not meet the rigid

'New find' in Ontario could 'fill a pick-up truck'

More arms, explosives unearthed

Weapons and explosives continued to be found buried beneath the yard and buildings of an Ontario home late Friday night.

Ontario police said a new bunker of weapons, including another machine gun, was unearthed beneath the garage of the home of Donald G. Wiggins, who is accused of accumulating and secretly storing an eight-ton arsenal.

The new find yielded enough materials "to fill a pick-up truck," said police.

Investigators said they would return to the site today to comb the half-acre with metal detectors.

Meanwhile Friday, relatives of the 41-year-old Wiggins denied that he is a political extremist.

Wiggins' mother, Edna Methe, told newsmen that her son is a "good boy" and that "he didn't know anything about all this until the other day."

"He is no extremist," she said.

Wiggins' apparent political leanings became an issue in the investigation Friday when Los Angeles County Sheriff Peter Pitchess revealed that stacks of Nazi and other right-wing "hate" literature had been found in Wiggins' residence at 1053 E. Main St. in Ontario.

Hundreds of weapons, including machine guns, grenades and mortar launchers, plus tons of explosives have thus far been seized from Wiggins' home and business, located at 1694 E. Ninth St., Pomona, and unearthed at three desert locations near Lancaster.

Wiggins led officials to the munitions hidden in his home and business after surrendering himself to Ontario police late Thursday night.

He had been under surveillance for several days following the original discovery of a weapons cache in the desert on Sunday.

Much of the explosive material has already been destroyed where it was found in the desert because experts feared it might explode accidentally if removed.

Efforts to discover more hidden arms are continuing, apparently with Wiggins' cooperation.

Wiggins' mother and step-brother, Arthur Methe Jr., claimed a mysterious friend of Wiggins is responsible for the burial of the weapons.

The mysterious friend has been identified only as a Jeff Martin. Authorities have thus far not determined whether such a man exists.

"We are assuming that the name Martin is correct and that he — Wiggins — is not trying to establish a fall guy," said sheriff's detective Ron Moya.

Wiggins' mother claimed that Martin had loaned her son $17,000 to finance his foundry in Pomona and asked to store some containers at the business in 1974. She said Martin had returned sporadically since then to store more drums and cannisters.

Mrs. Methe said her son accidentally knocked over a cannister about two weeks ago and discovered what he believed to be machine gun parts.

She said he decided to bury all the cannisters.

Investigators, however, have indicated that the materials unearthed in the yard of the Ontario home and in the desert appeared to have been built up over several years.

Military training manuals and newspapers have been found along with the deadly munitions, dating from 1963 through 1971.

Authorities are attempting to use fingerprints lifted from the buried materials to determine whether others are involved in the case.

Like 1906 San Francisco temblor

Great earthquake in California called 'inevitable'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An earthquake threatening thousands of lives like the great San Francisco temblor of 1906 is inevitable in California, the U.S. Geological Survey's top earthquake expert said Friday.

Dr. Robert M. Hamilton, chief of the USGS Office of Earthquake Studies, said the upcoming quake will surpass 8 points on the Richter scale and its impact "would be enormous."

"Losses could reach thousands of lives and tens of billions of dollars," Hamilton said in remarks prepared for delivery to the Commonwealth Club.

He did not predict when the earthquake would occur.

The magnitude of the 1906 Bay Area quake is estimated to have equalled 8.3 on the Richter scale. It killed more than 600 people and cost more than $400 million. The logarithmic Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Every increase of one number, say from 5.5 to 6.5, means the ground motion is 10 times greater.

In populated areas an earthquake of 3.5 on the Richter scale can cause slight damage in the local area, 4 can cause moderate damage, 5 considerable damage and 6 can be severe.

A 7 reading is "major" quake capable of widespread heavy damage; 8 is a "great" earthquake.

"Californians should not ignore or underestimate the earthquake threat," Hamilton said, "nor should irrational fear of earthquakes be allowed to be diversion from rational preparations."

He also said, "Progress in recent years provides considerable optimism about developing the capability of earthquake prediction." However, he did not predict when or where in California this great quake would strike.

Hamilton said the temblor undoubtedly would occur somewhere along the 600-mile-long San Andreas Fault system.

He said "precursor" signs that the great quake is coming include the bulge in the earth centered at Palmdale in Los Angeles County "where it has been discovered the land northeast of Los Angeles has risen up to a foot over the last 15 years."

The uplift, he said, extends 100 miles along the San Andreas Fault through the Mojave Desert.

"Such an uplift sometimes precedes earthquakes and is definitely cause for concern now," he said.

Hamilton called 1976 "an extremely bad year for earthquakes."

He said 23,000 persons died in Guatemala, 1,000 in Italy, 6,000 in New Guinea, 560 in Indonesia, 100,000 or more in China, 8,000 in the Philippines and 5,000 or more in Turkey, all as a result of earthquakes this year.

Environmental Protection Agency standards.

Kawa noted that the district is relying heavily on the Economic Development Administration grant to finance the project. Should the grant be denied, the district will attempt to utilize its $2.5 million reserves and borrowing to finance the project. Should that fail, its third alternative would be to request another bond election.

Kawa said it would remain up to the district's board of directors how much money would be requested in a bond election.

One bright spot in the financing scheme was an announcement by Kawa that the Chino Basin Municipal Water District is experiencing problems similar to those of the PVMWD. Kawa said the Chino district may be interested in helping develop the new site and sharing in the increased pumping ability and water availability.

The PVMWD has planned information sessions for the public on the proposed plant relocation for Dec. 15 in the San Dimas community building, 245 E. Bonita Ave., San Dimas and Jan. 6 at Golden Springs School in Diamond Bar.

As part of the Metropolitan Water District, PVMWD acts as a wholesaler to various city water departments, such as the Pomona Water Department, of water obtained from local wells, the Colorado and Feather Rivers and other imported water.

Letter bomb explodes

NEW YORK (AP) — An envelope addressed to a federal agency exploded Friday on a conveyor belt at the General Post Office here, police said. No injuries were reported.

A second letter bomb on the same conveyor belt was found before it went off.

The device that went off was addressed to the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, police said.

Humane Society protests chasing off wild geese

The Humane Society of the United States is protesting a program aimed at chasing wild geese off the grounds of the California Institution for Men in Chino.

A spokesman for the Humane Society's West Coast regional office said today that up to 6,000 wild geese can be expected at the prison grounds in coming weeks and the "hazing" program at the prison will lead to a "senseless slaughter."

The hazing program consists of frightening the birds with loud blasts similar to a shotgun discharge, said a prison spokesman.

"Everything we're doing has been under a permit from the California Department of Fish and Game," said Marv Ryer, administrative assistant at the prison.

Ryer said the geese have been feeding during the winter months at the prison for many years, but in the last two or three years the size of the flock has grown enormously.

"We estimate that the loss of grain from the farm program will be worth about $25,000 to $30,000. We just can't accept that cost," he said.

Grain raised at the prison is used to feed cattle and other animals in the agricultural training program for inmates.

The Humane Society maintains, however, that the hazing program chases the geese onto private property in the Chino Hills, where hunters make the geese easy prey.

Society officials are calling for a cancellation of the hazing permit granted by the Department of Fish and Game until alternate feeding grounds can be developed.

Failing that, the society would like to see hunting banned in the Chino Hills.

Children's suicide rate shows alarming rise

BELMONT, Mass. (AP) — The rate of suicide among children in their grammar school years, generally thought of as a person's most carefree and happy times, is increasing at an alarming rate, a Boston-area child psychiatrist says.

Why do children from 6 to 11 want to take their own lives?

"The most obvious reason they do it is the same as for an adult — to get back at someone," said Dr. Peter Saltzman, director of McLean Hospital's Children's Center. "They do it to call attention to a very desperate situation, usually to a loss of a loved one."

Saltzman, 37, who specializes in treating youngsters who attempt suicide, said the most frequent occasion for a childhood suicide attempt is a death in the family or a separation or an argument with a loved one.

One signal of possible suicide in a young child, Saltzman said, is depression, an ailment psychiatrists did not recognize in children until about 10 years ago.

Depression in children, he said, can show as hyperactivity, a failure to make friends, poor school performance and hypochondria. Among 10- and 11-year-olds it might show up as a delinquency, vandalism and fighting.

The increasing rate of divorce and separation and emotional disorders such as alcoholism and depression among parents also affect young children's behavior, Saltzman said.

"... we've come a long way from thinking it's all the parents' fault. What we're trying to figure out is to what degree is the child predisposed to depression," he said.

Saltzman said that a recent clinical study he did — based on his own experience and that of his colleagues — showed that about 75 suicides of pre-adolescents were officially reported in 1973, the last year his study covered. That figure could be compared to a total of three in 1958, he said.

Among the general population, the number of suicides increased from 18,500 in 1958 to about 25,000 in 1973. In 1974, the last year for which such statistics were available, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that 25,683 Americans killed themselves.

The official figures for suicide among pre-adolescent children, Saltzman said, don't begin to tell the story.

Bereaved families are often more concerned about concealing a child's suicide than an adult's. And many suicides of children — such as death by drowning or automobile accident — are classified as accidental deaths.

Bills to keep killers jailed introduced

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislators angered by the possibility of parole for 67 Death Row prisoners introduced bills Friday that would keep convicted first-degree murderers in prison if the high courts throw out future death penalty laws.

Assemblyman Alister McAllister, D-San Jose, said it was unlikely the legislature could act fast enough to prevent parole eligibility for the 67 Death Row prisoners affected by Monday's California Supreme Court ruling that the state's death penalty law was unconstitutional.

McAllister's bill will be set for hearings next month along with two new proposals to reinstate the death penalty.

The McAllister bill would require life without possibility of parole for crimes that fit California's old special circumstances law — such as multiple murder — until a new death penalty statute can be enacted.

To prevent future parole for the 67 now on Death Row, the bill would have to be passed before the state Supreme Court's ruling on Monday becomes final.

It usually takes 30 days, or until Jan. 6, for a court ruling to become final, McAllister said, and the legislature left Friday for the holidays. It won't return until Jan. 3, making timely action on an anti-parole bill unlikely.

But bills introduced this week set the stage for the opening hearings in the 1977-78 session of the legislature.

Also introduced Friday was a bill by Assemblyman Mike Antonovich, R-Glendale, that would reinstate the death penalty and include provisions banning parole for first-degree murderers if the law is ever thrown out by the courts.

Another bill, introduced by Assemblyman Bill McVittie, D-Upland, on the day after Monday's court ruling, would reinstate the death penalty.

In 1972, when the Supreme Court threw out the death penalty, 107 condemned prisoners had sentences commuted to life. Four of them are now out on parole.

The state Supreme Court ruled Monday that California law did not meet U.S. Supreme Court requirements that juries consider the circumstances of a case and a defendant's character before imposing a death sentence.

Captions on TV aid deaf

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission gave a go-ahead Friday for captioning television programs on the TV screen so hearing-impaired people can enjoy the programs more fully.

A system called "closed captioning" will be used, in which only viewers with special attachments on their TV sets can see the captions.

But the commission wouldn't go as far as asked by the Public Broadcasting Service and reserve a portion of the TV screen solely for such captioning.

6 in drug ring ruled guilty; Pomonan free

A Pomona man was acquitted of drug charges at his trial in U.S. District Court in San Diego, but six other suspects arrested in the investigation last September either pleaded guilty or were convicted.

The acquitted Pomonan was Robert Fierro, 46, of 1926 Dennison St. The Ontarian who pleaded guilty was Jesus Santillan Lara, 45, of 967 E. Holt Blvd.

Both were among seven suspects arrested by Pomona police and state and federal narcotics investigators Sept. 8 in the climax to an investigation which lasted three years. Authorities said that the ring was responsible for taking in more than $1 million a month in the trade of heroin between Mexico and Southern California.

Detective Lorenzo Zambrano Jr. of Pomona said the ring smuggled heroin into this country through San Ysidro and that illegal aliens were used to carry in the contraband. It was the arrest of one of the suspects at the border that led to the prosecution.

Those who pleaded guilty were Frank Estrada, 41, who was a patient at the Corona Rehabilitation Center at the time of his arrest; Leno Meza, 57, who was serving a term at Tehachapi State Prison for narcotics sale when he was arrested; and Juana Maldonado, 30, who was in jail at Sybil Brand Institution on a narcotics charge when she was arrested.

The defendants were charged with conspiracy to possess heroin for sale with the intent to distribute it and with conspiracy to import heroin.

Sentencing of those convicted or who pleaded guilty was scheduled for next month, Zambrano said.

New program gives Cal Poly vital role in nation's future

By VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

The inauguration of the first University Business Development Center in the nation on the Cal Poly Pomona campus by the administrator of the Small Business Administration marks the university as a focal point in a new assistance concept for small businesses.

Of eight UBDC programs established across the nation this week, two — the one at Pomona and one at Chico — are on California State University and Colleges campuses. The other six are in the Midwest.

SBA administrator Mitchell P. Kobelinski and Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke of the 19-campus CSUC were featured speakers at formal ceremonies in the University Theater. Other speakers included Reed M. Powell, dean of the School of Business Administration, who is credited with developing the UBDC concept nationally, President Robert C. Kramer of Cal Poly Pomona and William Bowers, chairman of the board of MSI Data Corp.

"This program marks the beginning of a national movement in which the resources of universities, government agencies and business communities will be combined to create a stronger, more productive economy," said Kobelinski.

"This will be marked as an important date for the future of our country," continued the SBA administrator. "Free enterprise is a fundamental freedom which has been lost in many nations around the world. But in the U.S., we still have the chance to be masters of our own destiny."

"In the past, many agencies and departments have worked independently, resulting in uncoordinated, often overlapping efforts."

"These UBDC programs will provide the rapport between government and academia. The partnership of government, education and business can do much to raise the tone of peoples' opinions about the business community," Kobelinski said.

In concluding his remarks, Kobelinski presented Certificate Number One to Powell, signifying the importance of the Pomona center in the UBDC program.

Dumke announced that Powell, who has worked 10 years developing the concept, will coordinate systemwide implementation of the new federal program.

Dumke added that similar programs would eventually be developed on other CSUC campuses with Pomona as the coordinating center.

"The program recognizes CSUC's ability to work realistically as teaching and service institutions in helping to meet compelling problems of small and medium businesses throughout the state," Dumke said.

"By coordinating the efforts of all the involved groups for more efficient training and development of skills, we will eventually have the ability to increase the productivity of the nation," the chancellor added.

Kramer said the Pomona center represents "an organized structure and a staff to encourage and to enable people to help themselves."

"Our center will encourage the university to assist small business persons who want to learn how to operate more efficient, effective, productive and profitable business enterprises," the president said.

"This center marks the first step in a significant national movement to preserve the free enterprise system," said Bowers who established his firm originally as a small business in Claremont.

The spirit for growth has changed," Bowers said. "Entrepreneurs are not as eager to start businesses as they were 10 years ago. It's not as easy to get financing."

Bowers said many businessmen have adopted a "what's the use" attitude and feel there is no reason to grow when all the rewards vanish with increased taxes and regulations.

"I've worked for this center in the hope that it can reverse the present trends."

Powell told the inaugural audience "Our country stands at the crossroads. The national productivity growth rate is insufficient to continue to provide Americans with the high standard of 'good life' to which they have become accustomed."

Powell said the center will provide a framework for effectively interrelating resources to provide jobs for people and people to do the jobs.

The UBDC offers business owners and potential business owners an opportunity to analyze their abilities and skills and to develop them fully. The university provides the facilities for complete analysis of plans, products and ideas.

The program is an outgrowth of SMA's Small Business Institute which provides troubled businesses with management assistance and counseling by qualified business administration students and faculty.

An integral part of the new concept will be the use of volunteer expertise of retired and active executives.

A two-day seminar on education, productivity and employment was held on the campus in conjunction with the inauguration of the center.

Local business operators interested in learning more about the new center may contact Cal Poly Pomona.

Will leave median dividers on Central open

Chino City Council changes decision

By JON MORRIS
PB Staff Writer

Chino businessmen have won a battle with the City Council over the proposed closure of median dividers on Central Avenue.

Councilmen this week rescinded their previous action of Nov. 16 to close the median at Park Street near two local banks.

They voted 3-2 to keep the median open, thus permitting left turns at Park. Mayor Bob McLeod, Angel Martinez and Pete Garcia voted with the majority, and Leonard Frketch and Eileen Carter were against it.

The previous vote to close the divider also was 3-2 with Garcia on the other side.

Garcia indicated he had changed his vote because businessmen opposing the closure had "made an impression" on him.

The vote came up as councilmen were considering whether to spend $6,700 to close the median at Park. Both Frketch and Mrs. Carter argued that for safety reasons, the median should be closed at Park.

The city staff had proposed eliminating left turns at Pomona First Federal Savings and Loan Association building but allowing them at Chino Valley Bank. A new left turn pocket was to be constructed at the latter bank because of a proposed addition to the facility.

The staff recommendation sparked debate between spokesmen for both banks, and the council. Mrs. Carter moved on Nov. 16 to close off all left turns at Park in the interests of even-handed treatment.

However, both banks obviously were unhappy and a large crowd of businessmen showed up at the council meeting this week to protest

"closures of the median on Central Avenue."

The bank spokesmen generally argued that closing off left turns would cause them to lose customers and "a bundle of money."

Other businessmen requested a meeting next Tuesday with the council on future plans for the development of Central. The council agreed to meet with them.

Several businessmen along Central addressed the council, saying they opposed any further closures of the median. "If we close off all median islands, you'll create some kind of freeway from the railroad tracks to Highway 60," said Henry Van Dyke, local real estate agent.

Frketch later said it was "an awfully dangerous situation, leaving the Median open (at Park)."

S.B. County supervisors hold hearing

San Bernardino County supervisors will hold the first of two required public hearings Monday at 2 p.m. to consider approval of the county's application for federal Community Development Block Grant funds for 1977-78.

All unincorporated areas of the county are represented in the application — including Alta Loma, Cucamonga and Etiwanda. Also, the cities of Montclair and Upland are represented in the bid for funding.

The application consists of a one-year capital expenditure plan, a three-year community development plan, and a housing assistance plan.

The plan for 1977-78 calls for a $6 million expenditure in all areas of the county, with $2 million to be made available for urban renewal and neighborhood improvement projects in unincorporated communities.

The cities would receive separate allocations, according to county officials, and they have prepared a project list for the coming year.

More than $2.1 million will be made available for funding projects to cities who sign joint powers agreements with the county.

The Board of Supervisors will accept testimony at the hearing from persons concerned over priorities in the development of the formal application. The hearing will be held in the board chambers, 175 W. Fifth St., San Bernardino.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Veteran movie actor Fred MacMurray is hospitalized here with acute bronchitis, a spokesman at Good Samaritan Hospital said Wednesday.

La Verne may profit by special census

A special census, set for next April, is expected to enrich the City of La Verne by at least $27,000 next year, City Manager George Caswell estimates.

Caswell said the city will get even more money in state allotments in subsequent years until 1980 when the decennial census is held.

The city manager estimates that the population of La Verne is more than 18,500, an increase of nearly 50 per cent since 1970. He expects the rapid increase to continue for the next five years.

The City Council approved a $10,000 expenditure this week for the census, after Caswell told its members that the state department of finance will not project growth figures more than five years after an official census. This means, he said, that La Verne will not get credit for additional growth from now on unless a special census is taken.

Caswell said the target date for the special count is April 1.

Christmas gift items sought for Casa Colina patients

COLLECTING GIFTS

Barrie L. Dyer, left, director of program development at Casa Colina Hospital in Pomona, shows Christmas gifts to Doris Jorgensen, center, and Charlotte Knight, representatives of Claremont and Riverside clubs of the Avon Bottle Collectors' Association, purchased with funds provided by the clubs. The hospital is seeking gift donations for patients.

Business firms, service clubs, youth groups and individuals are urged to become Santa's helpers and provide gifts for disabled children and adults who will spend Christmas at Casa Colina Hospital in Pomona.

Gifts, funds to buy gifts, table decorations and entertainment are needed to brighten the holiday season for the patients.

Earlier contributors include the Avon Bottle Collectors' clubs of Claremont and Riverside, Blue Bird Group 68, and a Bible group.

Santa Claus, in the person of Jess Noriega, will visit at a Dec. 23 party. The Key-Winnettes of Pomona High School are providing table and tray favors.

Especially needed this year are gifts for men and gifts for children from infancy to age 10. Wallets, keychains, paperbacks, pajamas, novelty items, games, toys, stretch slippers and sweaters are among the items requested.

Gifts must be new but need not be wrapped. Gift wrapping will be done by the Assistents and Jean Muir.

What's going on around here

Earn a van

A state agency and a non-profit corporation are looking for workers willing to "earn a van . . . for free" as part of an experimental transportation program.

The new program hopes to get at least 10 "vanpools" operating under private ownership in Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

Behind "Inland Area Vanpools" are Commuter Computer and the California Department of Transportation (Caltrans).

A vanpool is a cross between a large carpool and a subscription bus service. Regular passengers are picked up at or near home and delivered to work. The trip is reversed in the evening. The part-time driver lives and works in the same areas as passengers.

"Most of the vanpool programs around the country involve company or government-owned vans," said Guy Visbal, head of the Caltrans portion of the program.

"The driver gets to ride free. Passengers pay costs, but no driver's salary."

In the Inland area experiment the driver will buy his own van and have it paid for by his passengers.

"At least for the experimental stage, we'll protect the owner-driver against up to $2,000 in major loss during the first year. We're talking about a small business person who has to provide good service."

Peace Lutheran enrollment

Peace Lutheran Pre-School and Day Care Center is having a special enrollment period Dec. 20-27. The school is located at 1101 Glen Ave., Pomona.

It emphasizes the growth of each child in a religious, creative atmosphere. Loving care is provided along with instruction in the morning pre-school sessions. Supervised play activities occur in the patio area and the new playground.

The school is open five days a week from 6 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Additional information may be obtained by calling the director, Mrs. Jeanna Gehrke, at 629-2268.

Speedy solutions

A new shortened complaint procedure, which will afford consumers a quicker method of expediting complaints against utilities, has been made effective by the State Public Utilities Commission (PUC).

"The new procedure," said PUC President David W. Holmes, "is similar to a small claims court and should result in complaints being resolved within 60 days after filing."

"It provides for a consumer filing a complaint with the PUC getting a hearing before an examiner within 30 days and a decision on the complaint within another 30 days."

Retiree to travel, fish

Albert G. Willette of Ontario has retired after a 13-year career at General Telephone Co. Willette was a senior utility man in Pomona at the time of his retirement. He is a member of the Elks Club. He plans to travel, fish and play golf.

Christmas toys restored

Residents of Esperanza, a Pomona center for the handicapped and aged, are seeking old or broken toys they can restore as their annual Christmas project.

This year the residents have adopted an underprivileged child day care program.

Job-seeking, welfare recipients, students, trainees and eligible low-income families receive free child care in approved private homes. The toys will be used to establish a toy bank for the use of the children.

All donations are tax deductible and can be delivered to Esperanza, 219 E. Foothill Blvd. Pickup can be arranged by calling Cathy Reyes, activity director, at 593-1391.

Dim the lights

"Decorations for the holidays should be used prudently in the spirit of energy conservation," urges Southern California Edison Co.

In a joint release by the utility and Pomona Beautiful, residents were urged to decorate their homes and businesses with lights geared to minimize energy consumption.

"While we are sponsoring the Home Decorations Contest we believe people can decorate without significantly increasing their energy usage," said Georgia Grove, chairman of Pomona Beautiful.

Pomona Jay-C-ettes collecting toys

The Pomona Jay-C-ettes are collecting toys to be given to the Chino Jaycees for distribution of children of inmates at the California Institution for Men at the prison's annual children's program on Christmas Day.

Toys will be given to some 400 children who visit their inmate fathers in the prison's minimum security area. This is an event where family ties are renewed with the Christmas spirit, said officials.

The program has become a tradition at the prison. Herbie Jones, a Chino Jaycee, will play Santa Claus. He will greet the children on a fire truck and then have each sit on his lap. Gifts and candy will be distributed to them.

Mrs. Gilbert Smith of the Pomona Jay-C-ettes reported the Chino Jaycees is an institutional chapter and members depend on outside help for donations Filling water needs to be outlined in S.D.

Water supply requirements and alternatives for filling water needs will be outlined at a public meeting Wednesday at the San Dimas Community building, hosted by the Pomona Valley Municipal Water District.

West End United Way reports big increases

Outstanding reports were made at a victory luncheon held recently by the West End United Way at Henri's Restaurant in Montclair.

Campaign cabinet chairmen said various concerns made notable increases in pledges. These included Ameron Steel with a 69 per cent increase, Edison Co., 36 per cent increase, Freightliner, 105 per cent increase, Youth Training Center, 45 per cent increase, City of Montclair, 30 per cent increase, Ontario Daily Report, 58 per cent increase, and Chino School District, 61 per cent increase.

The Freightliner Corp. in Chino topped its goal for the third year. In this 1976 campaign, the employees raised $12,994 and Dick Vakerics, plant manager, presented a corporate check from the company to match that figure.

Cochairmen of the drive at Freightliner were Jean German and Dan Blyseth. Assisting with the night shift collections were members of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, District 120, Local 1586.

In projected figures made by cabinet chairmen, the goal of the current campaign is short by four per cent. The reported total came to $553,925 or 96 per cent of the $576,550 goal.

Even if short of the set goal, the funds raised in 1976 surpass what was raised in 1975. For the 1976 goal, an increase of 11 per cent was decided upon by the executive committee of the West End United Way.

T. Stanley Warburton, campaign chairman, conducted the meeting following luncheon. He praised the work given to the United Way by Ted Pritchett, the loaned executive from Kaiser Steel. Pritchett spent three days a week for the past six weeks conducting campaigns in various plants and businesses.

Division reports were made as follows: Division A, Dick Verrue, chairman, $256,448 or 91 per cent of goal; Division B, Joe Aldern, chairman, $117,369 or 90 per cent of goal; Division C, Ken Wright, chairman, $25,091 or 80 per cent of goal; Division D, Randy Bond, chairman, $16,127 or 90 per cent of goal; Division E, Warburton, chairman, $98,515 or 100 per cent of goal; Division F, Jackie Jeffrey Schessler, chairman, $13,537 or 100 per cent of goal; Division G, Emma Dagan, chairman, $18,205 or 80 per cent of goal; combined federal campaign, Chuck Linck and Jerry Yocom, cochairman, $7,000 or 85 per cent of goal; and mass mailing, $1,633.

James Garliepp, chairman of the West End United Way executive committee, greeted the 125 individuals at the luncheon who represented the various agencies and who were volunteers on the campaign. Nors Lee Clinton was in charge of the arrangements.

Joe Kamansky, chairman of the budget committee, introduced representatives of the agencies attending.

Agencies supported by the West End United Way include:

Youth services: Boys' Clubs, Old Baldy Council, Boy Scouts of America, Mt. San Antonio Camp

during business hours at the Pomona Chamber of Commerce office, 100 Pomona Mall West, or the Pomona Humane Society office, Mission Boulevard and Humane Way.

For more information, persons may phone the Jaycees at 623-3016 weekdays between 2 and 5 p.m.

Persons interested in donating toys for the children may deposit them the immediate start of construction.

"We may have to move very quickly if the decision is to use our existing reserve funds or federal grant funds," said William C. Leech of Covina, president of the PVMWD.

"These meetings have been set so the public will know what we are doing

Jones said it might be possible to increase volume by contracting food services for some smaller school districts in the vicinity. He said he had been contacted by three that are looking for another district to serve them.

Union official found innocent

A Retail Clerks Union official accused of soliciting arson has been found innocent by a West Valley Superior Court jury.

Carl Smith, executive secretary of Retail Clerks Union 1428 in Pomona, was acquitted by the jury Tuesday afternoon. The jury found evidence presented in the trial before Judge Richard C. Garner to be inconsistent.

Smith was arrested in October, 1975 following a lengthy strike at the Chino Farms Market owned by Pete Vargas and another man. The strike began in September, 1975 and ended with employees voting not to join the union in October, 1976. Following the strike, Smith was arrested and charged with attempting to solicit the burning of store, auto and house owned by Vargas.

During the trial, Deputy Dist. Atty. Gary Admire claimed that Smith asked two hired pickets, Judy Cuthbertson and Marie Braun, to burn Vargas' house, store and car.

Legend says Rome was founded by the twin brothers Romulus and Remus in 753 B.C.

The alleged offer was rejected by the pickets who appeared as witnesses.

Smith's defense attorney, Franklin A. Holland said the evidence against Smith during the trial was "shoddy and fell short" of implicating him in the alleged act.

Holland argued the two pickets were reportedly approached during the afternoon but that Smith was at the store during the morning on the day the alleged offer was made.

The attorney said the Hospital aide sentencing set for Jan. 5

VENTURA (AP) — Sentencing has been set for Jan. 5 for a psychiatric technician who pleaded no contest to beating and choking a mentally retarded patient at Camarillo State Hospital.

Eva Hernandez pleaded no contest Monday to misdemeanor assault charges before Superior Court Judge Adrian Adams.

Mrs. Hernandez had originally pleaded not guilty in the Oct. 18 incident, in which witnesses said she struck the patient with a fly swatter and her fists, then looped a towel around her neck and began choking her. The patient survived.

Mayor arrested, then suspends police chief

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Maverick Mayor Edward A. Hanna, who once removed the door to his office to promote "open government," didn't take kindly to being arrested for picking the lock of the police chief's office door. He suspended the chief and four officers.

The episode — which grew out of a dispute over access to gun permit records — was the latest in a three-year running battle between the flamboyant Hanna and the government, business circles and press in this upstate New York city.

"I was arrested tonight and I thought you might like the story," he said Thursday in a telephone call to The Associated Press in Albany.

Speaking nonstop and with intensity, the raspy-voiced Hanna said he wanted to inspect gun permit records after a prospective security guard complained that he was told it would take six months to a year to get a permit.

"This was the only battlefield that even I was hesitant to jump into," he said. "I haven't been courageous enough to really fight them yet ... but I am now. This is the strongest, most controlled, self-serving police department in the entire country."

Hanna and locksmith Donald Zuilloux were arrested and arraigned in city court on charges of third-degree criminal trespass. Both were released on their own recognizance and ordered to appear Dec. 16 for another hearing.

The mayor said he decided to inspect the records after Chief Benny Rotundo refused to provide them.

Rotundo could not be reached for comment.

Accompanied by corporation counsel Joseph Scarfrotti and two assistants, Hanna showed up at the chief's office. There, he said, deputy chief Edward Cahill told him Rotundo had directed him not to allow the mayor to examine the records without a court order.

"I ordered a locksmith myself to come and pick the lock," Hanna said. "He pushed a little thing in the lock and they arrested him and put him in jail."

Hanna then suspended Rotundo, Cahill, captains William Galle and Nicholas LaBella and Lt. Robert Mazza. The mayor had proclaimed himself public safety commissioner in 1974, not long after taking office.

Hanna said the complaint from the security guard was only the latest of several he has received about the issuing of gun permits. He said he wanted to check the records to see if they were being handled properly.

It was not Hanna's first unconventional action. Upon becoming mayor, he removed the door to his office so he could be more accessible to citizens. He soon found the policy a nuisance and ordered the door rehung.

sance and ordered the door rehung.

Hanna, 54, a Lebanese-American who became a wealthy businessman, was narrowly elected in a three-way race in 1973. He won re-election in 1975 on the Rainbow ticket, after numerous battles with the local establishment which brought him national attention.

Temple Sholom of Ontario has started a program called "Center Without Walls" for elementary school age children.

The program, to provide creative experiences in groups to enrich Jewish life, is open to children from kindergarten through sixth grade. To participate, the family does not have to be a member of Temple Sholom.

This program will last eight weeks, from mid-January to mid-March. It will consist of a Jet Club (Jewish Enrichment Time) for kindergarten and first grades. This group will do crafts, story telling, games and drama around a Jewish theme such as the holidays and heroes from Jewish history.

For second and third grades, a crafts, music and dance group will be geared to crafts involving Jewish practices and holidays and Israel music and dance.

For fourth, fifth and sixth grades, a crafts, sports and games group is planned. The emphasis will be on learning new or enhancing old skills.

A meeting to discuss and explain the program will be held at Temple Sholom Sunday at 10 a.m. The days and time for the program will also be decided then. Persons unable to attend the meeting but wanting additional information and registration material, may phone Temple Sholom at 983-9661.

Ontario wins U-M title

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

Larry Larson, the head basketball coach at Ontario High, hoped his team would gain some maturity in this year's Upland-Montclair Tournament.

Not only did the young Jaguars gain maturity but they also brought home a championship trophy.

HUSTLE AWARD — Duarte
DEFENSE AWARD — Ontario.

Ontario defeated an even more youthful Upland squad, 60-53, in the championship game of the U-M Tournament Friday night at the Montclair High gymnasium.

Ganesha took the consolation title by running past Duarte, 87-72. La Puente Wilson topped Alta Loma, 63-46, for third place and Garey grabbed fourth place honors by downing Montclair, 76-62.

"I'm wiped out," exclaimed a happy Larson during Ontario's victory celebration. "I really don't know what to think. We just put together a super tournament."

Larson felt the key to the tournament was beating Ganesha, 75-63, Tuesday in the first round.

"When we beat Ganesha, I felt something building and I knew we had a shot at the championship. We still have a young team but it matured a lot this week. That's what we wanted to get out of this tournament. This is really a super group to work with."

Upland's Paul Troutwein certainly didn't have anything to feel sad about.

The Highlanders start out with five juniors so the future is bright.

Upland was hurt in the third quarter. Entering the period trailing only 26-25, the Scots could manage only one basket in 15 shots as Ontario opened up a 40-27 lead.

The Highlanders scored 26 points in the fourth quarter to make the Jags work for their victory.

Upland twice cut the deficit to three points at 42-39 and 48-45 before Ontario broke it loose for the final margin.

"I am proud of the way we came back," Troutwein said. "We just couldn't buy a basket in the third quarter. I guess we tightened up."

Upland also was hampered by the loss of center Brian Patterson, who suffered an eye injury in the third quarter.

"It looked like a scratch," Troutwein said.

Guard Otis Manning led Ontario with 26 points with Mickey Donaldson contributing 15. They were both selected to the All-Tournament team.

Guard Steve Hanson led Upland with 15, 10 scored in the fourth quarter.

Ganesha opened behind 10-0 but the Giants roared back for a 16-16 tie after the first quarter. The Giants used their fast break the rest of the way with guard Steve Polee leading the way with 22 points.

Wilson outscored Alta Loma, 18-9, in the third quarter to break open a tight game with Mike Fernandez' 17 points leading the Wildcats. Kevin Comstock led the Braves with 19. Forward Jeff Anderson didn't play for Alta Loma after suffering a sprained ankle Thursday night.

Garey made 14 of its 22 field goals in the first quarter to grab an early 30-15 lead. Center James Lofton led the Vikings with 21 points followed by Herbi Banks with 17 plus 14 apiece by Craig Snider and Ken Ottrix.

Damien, S.D. drop openers

By SCOTT POINDEXTER
PB Correspondent

The San Dimas Tournament of Champions opened Friday afternoon, and by Friday evening, all of the area schools had one more loss to tack on to their respective records.

T of C

Friday's results
El Dorado 56, South Hills 55
Victor Valley 75, San Dimas 45
Moreno Valley 53, Damien 50
Mira Costa 71, Dana Hills 60
Today's schedule
at San Dimas High
San Dimas vs. South Hills, 3 p.m.
Damien vs. Dana Hills, 5 p.m.
Victor Valley vs. El Dorado, 7 p.m.
Mira Costa vs. Moreno Valley, 9 p.m.

The San Dimas Saints, host team for the Tournament, dropped its third straight game of the year, by being blown out by the Jackrabbits of Victor Valley, 75-45. Damien, which had just won its first victory Tuesday against San Dimas, lost a close one to Moreno Valley, 53-50. And then to top it off, South Hills lost against a good El Dorado Golden Hawk team by one point in overtime, 56-55. In the final game, Mira Costa topped Dan Hills, 71-60.

Tony Anderson, Victor Valley center, hit on 13 of 22 attempts and whistled through his only free throw shot to totally demolish a Saint team that had a combined total of 29 points after three periods while Anderson had 27. Mike McDonald gave the Saints their big lift of the night with 21.

Anderson opened the game by hitting six of his first seven shots with help from Bill Lightner's 10 points and the same amount from Barry Stonesifer.

During the third period, San Dimas was held to only six points, all free throws by Mark Klein, who finished up with 15.

Damien's Bill Duffy, having his best game of the year, tried to bring the Spartans back from a 12-point deficit in the final quarter, but Damien fell short. Duffy started out slow, sinking only three baskets in the first half, but went wild in the third and fourth quarters by hitting nine of 12 shots to wind up with 24 points. The Spartan cause was really hurt with 2.15 left in the game when starting forward Howard Penwitt had to come out with a cut above his left eye. Penwitt had been the leading rebounder with seven.

Moreno Valley jumped on Damien early in the second quarter using a double deep-post of twin brothers Craig and Carter McGhee, a pair of 6-5 forwards. Craig does the assisting and Carter does the scoring, and the Spartans could only watch and wait for Duffy to warm up. Craig ended up with nine assists and Carter had 23 points, 15 in the first half.

In other action, the South Hills Huskies fell to an aggressive El Dorado team. The Golden Hawks used a balanced scoring attack that featured three players putting in eight and three with six. The Huskies retaliated with Orvie LaVenture, a 6-2 senior forward. LaVenture had 20 points, mostly on "swishers" from the baseline. Paul Marron had 10 points, but El Dorado took a three point lead with 35 seconds left and held on for the next 29 seconds when South Hills got its final basket.

Lakers like it at home

By DON BRADLEY
PB Staff Writer

INGLEWOOD — It's home sweet home in the NBA for certain!

The Lakers, 2-9 on the road, ran their home court mark to 11-2 Friday night with an easy 109-99 victory over the visiting Houston Rockets at the Forum.

Houston, now 14-7 overall, is 11-2 at home and 3-5 on the road. Home teams are winning 75 percent of the time so far this season in the NBA.

When asked about the wide disparity, Lakers coach Jerry West came out with his usual honest answer.

"Everybody works harder at home than on the road," West said. "But I don't know why that is."

The win was the Lakers' seventh straight at home and snapped a three-game losing streak.

Kareem Abdul Jabbar, who saw his rebound average drop to 14.6 after the two road losses, was back on his game Friday. Playing only 33 minutes, Jabbar had 16 rebounds, eight assists, four blocked shots and scored 18 points.

"I really feel that this was Kareem's best game this season," West said. I think our defense, especially early in the game, was our strong suit. It helped us get off to a big lead."

It was only 24-22 after one quarter. But the Angelinos allowed the Rockets only 16 points in the second period while throwing in 33 themselves.

Calvin Murphy (22) and Rudy Tomjanovich (21) led the visitors. But they got their points when hopelessly behind. Murphy had just two points at the half and Tomjanovich (guarded by Don Ford and Kermit Washington) had six. Nobody on the Rocket team was in double figures in the first half.

West started five reserves to open the second quarter. Tom Abernathy's steal and layin 3:33 into the period lead to 40-24 and the reserves had outscored the visitors, 16-2.

"The reserves practice together as a unit," West explained. "The big thing with those guys is that they have to hang together or we won't stay in ball games."

The lead reached 29 points at one stage in the second half. Houston hasn't won at the Forum in two years.

The Lakers will have to be at their best Sunday. Denver (17-7) provides the opposition.

Decision due on 'Pac-10'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The proposed addition of Arizona State and the University of Arizona to the Pacific-8 will officially be taken up in a Monday morning business session, and the conference announced Friday that the decision will be announced at a news conference Monday afternoon.

It will take unanimous approval of the Pac-8 universities' presidents and chancellors to bring in the Arizona schools, now members of the Western Athletic Conference.

LANCASTER — Powerful Antelope Valley High were down visiting San Dimas here Friday night to post a 27-6 victory in the semifinals of the CIF 2A playoffs.

The Antelopes, top-seeded in the 2A Division and now sporting a 12-0-1 season mark, will tangle with Norte Vista (a 7-0 winner over Aviation) next Friday for the 2A title.

However, the Saints have nothing to be ashamed of, either of their game performance Friday night or their season. In addition to posting the school's best mark ever (11-2), Coach Bob Baiz' crew gave the hosts quite a tussle for most of the game.

After falling behind 13-0 at the half, San Dimas dominated the action in the third quarter and scored on the first play of the final period to make it a tight 13-6 contest.

That Saint scoring drive was set up as linebacker Doug Gates recovered a Bill Hilliker fumble on AVHS 21.

From there the locals marched the final 21 yards on eight running plays, quarterback Don Hargett scoring from the one on fourth down to narrow the gap.

However, Steve Campbell missed the PAT kick and there was an penalty on San Dimas on the same play. That meant the Saints had to kickoff from their own 25, and the Antelopes wound up with excellent field positions on their own 44.

The Lancaster lads promptly drove 56 yards for the TD which iced the win.

Key play in that drive was a 32-yard pass from Antelope quarterback Ed T'Sas to tightend Dwayne Wallace. That put the pigns on the Saint 13, and two plays later T'Sas dashed 10 yards for the score.

San Dimas promptly fumbled on their next possession (one of four Saint turnovers on the night) and linebacker Jim Eckmann recovered for AVHS on the Saint 23. Fullback Lee D'Errico went 10 yards and halfback Hilliker 13 for the final TD of the contest.

Antelope Valley led in total yardage for the game, compiling 326 yards to San Dimas' 182. The Antelopes also picked up 18 first-downs to the Saints' 10.

Hilliker had almost as many yards as the Saints team. The fleet halfback rushed for 166 yards on 26 carries. Backfield mate D'Errico added 84 yards to the Antelope Valley ground game.

D'Errico scored both first half touchdowns for the hosts. The first was on a three-yard blast midway through the second quarter. His second score came on a 30-yard sweep later in the period.

The usually potent San Dimas rushing attack had an off-night. Fullback Bob Pleasant had only 44 yards on 11 carries and halfback Terry Aris could only add 34 strips. Surprisingly, QB Hargett was the top Saint rusher with 78 yards on 20 carries. Hargett completed only one of seven passes for a net of 16 yards.

The Antelopes' Hilliker now has over 1,900 yards rushing on the season. The Saints' Pleasant finishes the year with 1,710 yards on the ground.

USC, Long Beach both win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Senior forward Greg White scored 28 points to lead Southern California past Grambling College 83-75 in an opening round game of the Trojan Basketball Classic Friday night.

The Trojans, now 2-3, were able to hold off a late Grambling rally to move into Saturday's championship game against the Long Beach State 49ers, who whipped Butler University 63-50 in the opening game of the two-day tournament.

The Grambling Tigers, who suffered their first loss in six games this season, were led by Terry Sykes, who scored a game-high 30 points.

The Tigers outscored USC 46-40 in the second half after trailing by 14 at the intermission, eventually trimming USC's lead to 80-75 with 14 seconds remaining.

With 4:20 left in the contest, Grambling's Gary Tidwell hit an eight-foot jumper to cut the Trojan lead to 73-66.

But the Trojans built their advantage up again when Marv Safford converted two free throws and then scored off a steal.

The Trojans had blitzed the Tigers in the opening five minutes of the contest, jumping off to a 14-0 lead.

White, who also had 19 rebounds, made a driving dunkshot with 14:27 remaining in the first half and converted a free throw to give USC a 19-4 lead.

But Grambling battled back when Sykes hit a 20-foot jumper to close the gap to 34-25 with 4:38 remaining in the half.

The Trojans, with White contributing 13 points, built their half-time lead to 43-29.

Junior Clarence Ruffen scored 16 points to lead Long Beach State to its victory over Butler.

Danny Thompson, Texas infielder, dies

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Danny Thompson, an infielder for the Texas Rangers baseball team, died Friday night at a Rochester hospital. He was 29.

A Mayo Clinic spokesman said Thompson died in St. Marys Hospital at 6:07 p.m. CST from "complications of leukemia." St. Marys is affiliated with the Mayo clinic.

He was admitted to the clinic Nov. 16, the spokesman said, and had undergone spleen surgery Dec. 3.

Doctors discovered Thompson suffered from granulocytic leukemia during a routine physical Jan. 31, 1973.

At the end of the 1974 baseball season, Thompson began an immunization treatment process at Mayo Clinic for the disease. He received six shots the first year. It was reduced to two shots this year.

An All-America shortstop at Oklahoma State, Thompson signed with the Minnesota Twins in the secondary phase of the major league draft June 7, 1968. He came to Minnesota in 1970 and stayed until June 1, 1976, when he was traded to Texas with pitcher Bert Blyleven for shortstop Roy Smalley, infielder Mike Cabbage, and pitchers Bill Singer and Jim Gideon.

Thompson, who was used in a utility role with the Rangers, finished the year with a .222 batting average, one home run and 19 RBI. He began the year with a .252 career hitting mark, 14 home runs and 175 RBI.

He enjoyed his best season in 1972 when he hit .276, collecting 158 hits in 573 times at bat.

In 1975, Thompson received the "Hutch Award," given annually to the major league player who displays the courage and spirit of former big league pitcher and Cincinnati Manager Fred Hutchinson, who died of cancer.

Thompson and veteran baseball writer Bob Fowler of the Minneapolis Star collaborated on a book, "E-6," following the 1975 season. The book dealt with Thompson's life in baseball and his illness.

"He was very courageous," said Fowler Friday night after learning of Thompson's death. "It was super how he faced up to it. He talked about it openly."

The funeral is scheduled Monday at Burlington, Okla. Thompson is survived by his wife Jo, daughters Tracy, 7, and Dana, 2, his parents, two brothers and two sisters.

Mounties hold off East L.A., 77-75

Mt. San Antonio College pulled out a narrow 77-75 decision over East L.A. Friday night on its homecourt as Bob Vigil sank two free-throws with 40 seconds left on the clock. MSAC's record is now 5-1.

With the contest deadlocked at 73-

73, John Deck hit a clutch jumper to give the Mounties a 75-73 lead which they refused to relinquish as time ran out on the Huskies. After Bill Lewis knotted the score at 75-75, Vigil sank the two free-throws to ice a hard fought win for MSAC.

"I thought we played very hard and very well defensively tonight," noted MSAC's Gene Victor.

The Mounties had battled back from a deficit of 52-46 with 16:17 left in the contest after East L.A. had bounced back after trailing twice in first half action by 10 points.

MSAC, leading 42-38 at halftime, began the second half with atrocious ball handling and shooting as East L.A. capitalized on several fast break baskets to pull ahead of the Mounties by six points.

Bob Jones did most of the damage as the Huskies outscored the Mounties 14-2 at the beginning of the second half. Jones popped in 10 of the Huskies 14 points as he turned three MSAC passing errors for easy uncontested lay-ins. Jones finished the night as the top scorer in the contest with 28 points.

MSAC, despite being outrebounded by East L.A. 58-41, refused to quit as they used a pressure man-to-man defense on the Huskie jumping jacks. The Huskies hit 45 per cent of their shots as they hit on 33 of 72 attempts. MSAC hit 51 per cent.

The Mounties' attack, without the services of Angel Santiago, had four men score in double figures. Vigil was top point man with 21. Dick Rockwood and Deck had 15 apiece and Jom Love chipped in with 10.

The second half was loaded with fast pace action as the Mounties and Huskies traded baskets after MSAC caught East L.A. at 56-56.

Dodger deal turned down

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers were apparently spurned Friday in an effort to obtain outfielder Rick Monday from the Chicago Cubs.

The Cubs representatives left the baseball winter meetings and returned to Chicago after a morning meeting with the Dodgers and it was said no further contacts were expected for the time being.

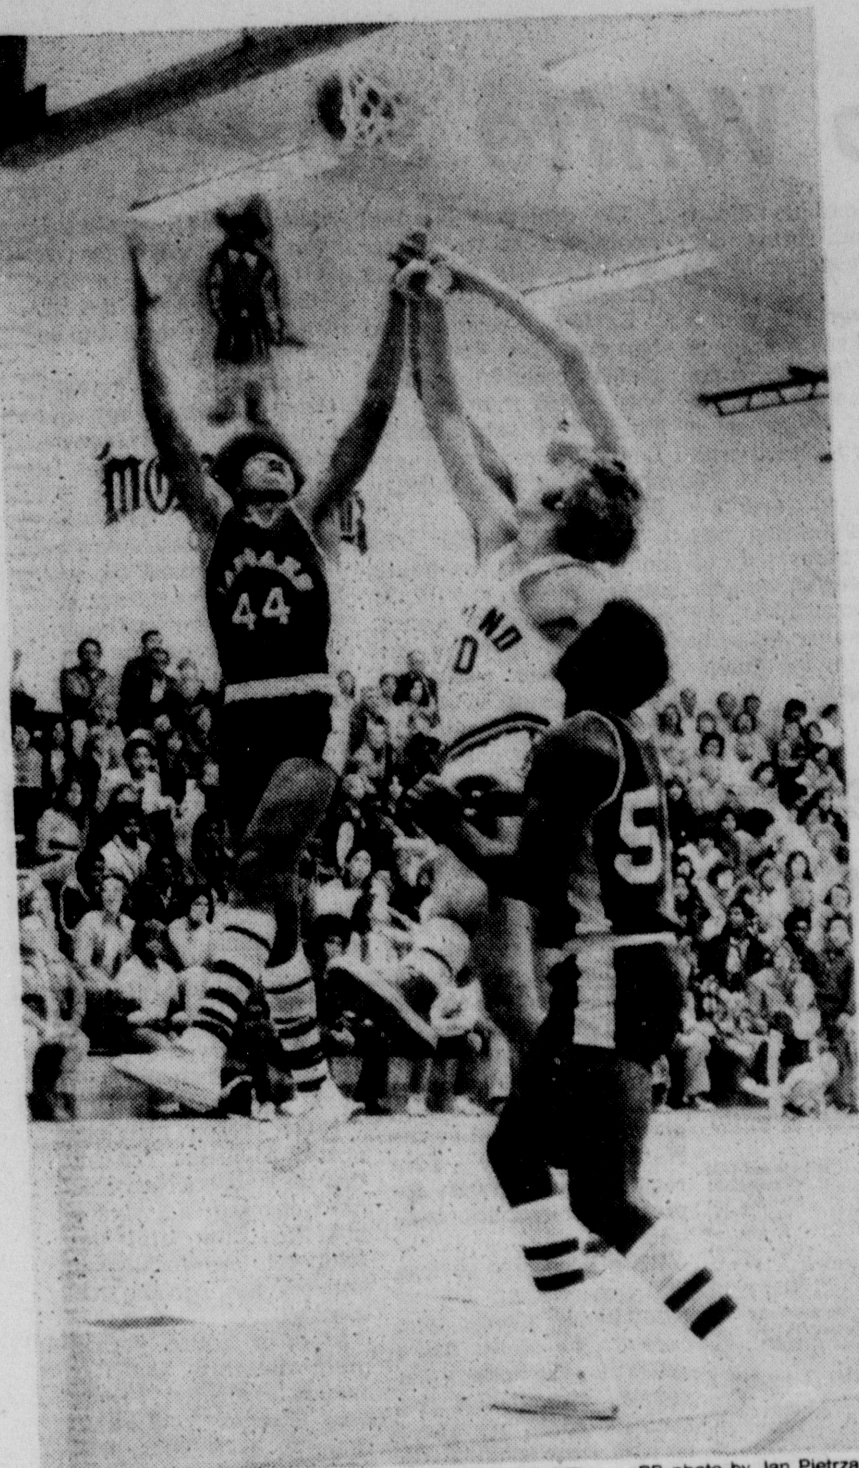

The Dodgers reportedly offered pitcher Doug Rau, outfielder Dusty Baker, infielder-outfielder Lee Lacy and shortstop Ivan DeJesus for Monday and pitcher Bill Bonham.

Blocking a deal was a demand by the Cubs for a fifth player, accounts said.

The Dodgers have long sought a consistent hard-hitting outfielder and have tried before to obtain Monday.

Rau had the second best earned run average in the National League last season when he was 16-12 and perhaps the Dodgers most consistent pitcher.

The Dodgers obtained Baker from Atlanta but he was hampered by knee problems and hit only .242 with four home runs.

Nobel awards

Americans pick up 'all the marbles'

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — To trumpet flourishes and music from West Side Story, Americans collected all the Nobel prizes Friday. About 200 demonstrators marched outside protesting against the economics award to Milton Friedman of Chicago, who they claim supported the right-wing Chilean regime.

Rising from their red plush chairs on the flower-decked stage of the Stockholm concert hall, the seven Americans strode forward one by one to receive their prize citations, each worth $160,000, from King Carl Gustaf of Sweden.

Although no peace prize was given this year, never before in the 75-year history of the awards for brilliance in science, economics and literature had a single country won them all.

Most of the laureates thought the unprecedented sweep was an accident, and one said it was unlikely ever to happen again.

Literature prize winner Saul Bellow said some of the credit for the American sweep must go to Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin because they drove Europe's best minds to America.

In addition to Bellow for literature and Friedman for economics, the winners are Burton Richter of Stanford University and Samuel C. Ting of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology for physics, William N. Lipscomb of Harvard for chemistry, and Baruch S. Blumberg of the University of Pennsylvania and D. Carleton Gajdusek of the National Institute for Neurological Diseases for medicine.

About 300 police, many with dogs, kept the demonstrators away from the entrance to the hall. The group of leftists said they plan to sue the Nobel Foundation for making Friedman its economics laureate. Friedman has denied that he backs Chile's military rulers.

In the last 25 years, 48 of the 100 prizes given have been won by Americans, and Americans have won all the science prizes four times. But never before in the 75-year history of the awards have all of them gone to one country.

Richter, leaving a U.S. Embassy luncheon Thursday as a loudspeaker in the vestibule played Kate Smith's record of "God Bless America," told reporters:

"There's a certain amount of pride that we're all Americans, but I think it's an accident. The awards are for work that was done over a long period of time and started a long time ago. You can't say it's because of the great way America treats science. The fact is government support for basic research is going down."

"If this stimulates more support, then I'm all for a little nationalism. But we'd better be careful or there won't be another such occasion."

"It's a country full of foreigners who are Americans," said Bellow. "It was meant to be a universal country and it is. Its support for science has been lavish, but Europe drove out its best minds. Mussolini, Hitler and Stalin were very big contributors in providing us with thinkers and teachers."

There was one controversial winner, Friedman, because he lectured in Chile after the overthrow of President Salvador Allende and because the Chilean military dictatorship patterned its tight monetary policies on his teachings.

The Chicago economist has denied that he supports or advised the Chilean government. But a group called the Chile Committee announced a protest march on the concert hall at the time of the award ceremony. It said it was also suing the Nobel Foundation to block the award, contending that Friedman because of his alleged support of the Chilean regime did not meet Alfred Nobel's requirement that the prizewinners must contribute to the welfare of mankind.

LETTERS FOR MELINDA — Stack of letters clutters bed of Melinda Darnell, suffering from a malignant, inoperable brain tumor. Her parents fear they may lose their welfare benefits because strangers have been so generous.

Family may lose welfare over gifts to sick girl

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — For three years the Douglas Darnell family has tried to cope privately

Wit aids survival

WASHINGTON (AP) — The crow, whose wit and adaptability have helped it survive on its own until now, has been made a protected species, according to the National Geographic Society.

The United States Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife has limited crow hunting to 124 days a year, and the New York state legislature has declared the bird a protected species, the Society said.

Crow hunters are skeptical about the protection. Crows eat crops and the eggs and young of other birds. But crows are useful scavengers, and help to control the grasshopper, beetle and moth populations.

They also have an amazing ability to adjust to their environment. Southern California crows seem to know when to fly to hot dog stands and snack bars to get to the leftovers before the cleanup crews, reports one ornithologist. A wild crow in Charlottesville, Va., followed the milkman and pried the cap off the bottles to sip the milk after he left them on the porch.

as daughter Melinda has been wasting away, a malignant, inoperable, tumor spreading through her brain.

Now, as the family starts to make arrangements for the funeral it fears will come soon, family members may lose their welfare benefits because strangers have been so generous.

Welfare officials say the family will no longer be qualified for food stamps, Medicaid and money under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program because more than $400 in gifts count as family income. The gifts came from persons who have read news accounts of the dying 15-year-old girl, according to her mother, Mary Darnell.

Edward Amundson, deputy director of the Fairfax County, Va., social services department, said he planned to speak with the social worker who told the family of the pending cutoff in benefits. Amundson said the decision can be appealed to higher officials in the department.

After the Washington Star ran a series of stories about Melinda, her faith in God and the family's sacrifices, dozens of persons mailed or brought food, clothing "and a little money" to the family. "We weren't prepared for people to take that much interest," Mrs. Darnell said. "We had been fighting this thing by ourselves for years. We didn't look for the publicity."

She said the response heartened them and "restored our faith."

A benefit for Melinda is set for Sunday at a local high school. The day has been declared "Melinda Day" by Virginia Gov. Mills Godwin.

When the proclamation from the governor arrived, Mrs. Darnell read it to her bedridden daughter.

"Read it to me again Mommy," she told me," Mrs. Darnell said Thursday. "She thought it was a joke, but I got a magnifying glass and showed her the governor's signature. She said, 'Gosh!' She wanted me to frame it."

It was uncertain whether Melinda would be able to attend the Sunday benefit.

"It looks bad. Every day is worse," her mother said. "She's a little weaker and is not eating well. She's not able to use her hands."

Not knowing if Melinda will live to see Christmas Day, the family has been celebrating it in advance, giving her a small present to open each day.

"She (can no longer) tear the paper off the packages," Mrs. Darnell said.

Get him to the church on time

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The reputation of the Metropolitan Transit Commission will be on the line Saturday when Arthur Greenough says, "Get me to the church on time."

Greenough, 55, who lives in an apartment complex for handicapped persons, will marry Beverly Scott, 46, at the Minneapolis nursing home where she lives.

The commission's dial-a-ride, door-to-door transit service for disabled persons began Nov. 27, and Greenough says it's "the best damn thing that's ever come down the pike."

Transit commission officials say they'll be sure to get Greenough to the chapel of Prospect Park Care Center on time, and they are even considering decorating the bus for the ceremony.

Fresh water corridor found along coast

WASHINGTON (AP) — A large area of relatively fresh water that may extend all the way from Georgia to New England along the Atlantic Coast has been discovered by scientists.

The U.S. Geological Survey said Thursday the water zone has a low salt content and is believed to act as a buffer protecting very fresh water close to shore from the intrusion of the sea water.

The scientists believe the subsurface zone stretches beneath the continental shelf from the coast of Georgia as far north as Georges Bank off New England.

The U.S. Geological Survey said that much of the water may have entered continental shelf sediments during an Ice Age about 10,000 years ago when the sea level was about 650 feet lower than now.

John C. Hathaway, chief scientist on a 60-day ocean drilling project last summer, said the water had less than three parts per thousand of salt, "slightly saltier than most drinking water." He noted that seawater averages about 35 parts per thousand.

Hathaway said the discovery could lead to useful development of water resources along the coast.

He added that there have been previous discoveries of fresh water zones in the ocean, but none as far offshore as the latest find. The zone extends as much as 60 nautical miles off the New Jersey coast, federal officials said.

The expedition used core sampling at 19 sites along the coast to test the water but loose gravel and sand in Georges Bank prevented drilling deep enough to confirm that the water zone extended that far.

8-year-old girl wins spotted fever battle

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — It cost her parts of nine toes and four fingers and about 55 per cent of her skin, but 8-year-old Debbie Saylor has won a five-month battle with Rocky Mountain spotted fever.

"There were many times when we wondered if she was going to make it," said Dr. Edward Luce, director of plastic surgery at the University of Kentucky Medical Center.

"Debbie had a rare disease and suffered extremely rare complications of the blood vessels of the skin," he said.

At first, it was thought she had measles. The early symptoms last July were about the same as measles. But then she developed a high fever and spreading skin blemishes and was brought to the medical center here.

The disease is caused by the bite of a tick.

Doctors performed seven skin grafts to cover exposed areas of her body. Dr. Luce said the youngster finally ran out of skin that could be grafted.

"We put her father to sleep and took skin from his legs, thighs and buttocks," Dr. Luce said. "We knew she would eventually reject it, but it held long enough to get her through a bad time."

"That operation was life saving."

Debbie apparently contracted the disease while visiting her grandmother last summer at Crab Orchard, Ky., doctors said.

"It's not unusual for a person with Rocky Mountain spotted fever to lose the tips of fingers or toes," Dr. Luce said. "But it is highly unusual for someone to suffer as much skin loss as Debbie."

Since arriving at the University Medical Center, Debbie has been housed in the burn unit — because her symptoms were similar to burns — but she's almost ready to leave the unit.

After one more skin graft, she will be moved to the Shriners' Hospital here, where she will have to learn to walk and use her hands all over again.

After that, she can return home and to enter the third grade.

Judge won't allow $73,518 attorney fee

SAN DIEGO (AP) — An attorney wants $73,518 in fees for representing the husband in a divorce trial, but the judge says he won't get it.

The domestic trial has lasted four full days and 48 half-days before Superior Court Judge Hugo Fisher.

The attorney for Mary Lou Tuite submitted a bill for $21,000 in fees while attorney Charles L. Abrahams, representing her husband Richard, seeks the larger amount.

"You can be absolutely certain that I am not going to allow $73,000 in fees," Fisher told Abrahams. A ruling on property division is expected next week.

McDonald's opens fancy restaurants

SCHAUMBURG, Ill. (AP) — Small golden arches stand out on wood paneling at the entrance. Inside are a galaxy of color combinations on walls, seats and tables, glass partitioned sections, four sparkling chandeliers, and pictures of knights and coats of arms.

It's one of two fancy-style McDonald's restaurants in the Chicago area, an English inn that draws 4,000 customers daily. The other is in the ritzy Water Tower Place on Michigan Avenue — lots of wood paneling and some subdued lighting.

If these new fast-food outlets are the first in a trend, it could be because of the diners' taste for the aesthetic rather than for the hamburgers.

Advertising Age, the trade publication, said in a recent article about Burger King, No. 2 in the quick hamburger trade, that market research on fast-food companies showed "a significant number of consumers disenchanted with the assembly line nature of the business, the lack of variety in the menu and the loss of individual service."

There might be an economic incentive, too. A new Agriculture Department analysis showed the fast-food industry, "generally ... considered to be recession-proof," starting something of a slowdown two years ago.

Until 1970, the analysis said, sales in fast-foods grew at about 20 per cent a year. In 1975 and 1976, growth in the business slowed to about 10 per cent, the analysis showed.

McDonald's is, and has been, tops in the field. The firm's sales in 1975 topped $2.25 billion, up 26 per cent from a year earlier, Advertising Age said. That was nearly 20 per cent of the $11.6 billion fast-food market, up from 17.2 per cent in 1974.

Kentucky Fried Chicken, next largest in the total fast-food market, has less than 10 per cent of the market, the trade magazine said.

The Commerce Department said fast foods accounted for 26.6 per cent of total sales in the eating-out market in 1975, down slightly from the 27.3 per cent in 1974.

All change in the industry isn't in decor. McDonald's and Burger King are trying fried chicken in some areas, and Kentucky Fried Chicken has been selling beef ribs for a couple of years.

McDonald's won't say whether the English inn or the Water Tower outlet have helped business. They apparently haven't hurt it. "Business is fantastic," said the Water Tower McDonald's management.

"We can seat 140 and we are in the process of enlarging."

"We have 334 seats and are serving an average of 3,500 to 4,000 customers a day," says Herb Hubbard, manager of the English inn McDonald's. "Our best seller is Big Mac, 1,400 of them a day at 85 cents. We may be a few cents higher than other McDonald's, but the rent here is higher and we have 160 employees. The average customer will spend $1.50."

Customers at the new McDonald's get the same menu as elsewhere, except for a few new dessert items.

Hubbard said his customers are shoppers with their kids, tourists with children and young people without their parents.

The Agriculture Department said the 20 biggest fast-food companies had 28,809 outlets last year, and plan 46,562 by 1980. Last June, Advertising Age said, McDonald's had 3,853 outlets, Burger King 1,700.

Women's music fraternity to offer concert

Covina Alumnae Chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, an international music fraternity for women, will present an Advent Musicales Sunday at 3:30 p.m. at the Claremont United Methodist Church.

The program will feature the Covina Carillons, a youth handbell choir from Covina First Presbyterian Church, directed by Peggy Smith Bailey. A trio composed of Frances Giffry, Sarah Mason and Colleen Wilson will sing a group of familiar and unusual carols.

Ruby Dubin, Jane

Spuehler and Madeline Boyer will perform Gordon Jacobs' contemporary "Trio for Clarinet, Viola and Piano."

Wendy Losh, organist at the host church, will play works by Bach, Buxtehude, and the more modern Litanies by Alain.

The concert is open to the public. There is no admission charge but an offering to benefit Sigma Alpha Iota's International Music Fund will be received.

Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the program.

Attorneys at church retreat

Some 20 attorneys are attending a retreat this weekend in the mountains above San Bernardino to discuss church-related problems within their profession.

All are members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church within the greater Los Angeles area. Harold Mulder of Diamond Bar was invited to attend.

One of the purposes for the three-day get-together was to establish an exchange-type relationship within the group as well as between them and the church.

They planned to discuss Adventists' position with reference to labor unions and the problem of "job-losses" members face by worshipping on Saturday — the Bible Sabbath.

'Year of the Snake' in Chinatown... Story on pages 4-5

Doc Peirsol

It happened in Pomona

There's no denying the fact that back around the first of this Twentieth Century Pomonans didn't have wonder drugs such as we are blessed with today to keep them hale and hearty. But don't think for a minute that they were suffering from any severe lack of professionally prescribed medication. In fact, there is some reason to believe that in those days our ailing forefathers had at their disposal more medicines, unguents, lotions and palliatives than we have today. And, if we are to judge by the historical records, they rarely missed any opportunity to take full advantage of the drugs which were then available. What other conclusion can we arrive at after reading this item which appeared in the August 24, 1908, issue of The Pomona Progress.

"There is on display in the window of E.E. Armour's drug store, 48,000 prescriptions that have been filled by the firm since the business was started."

One of the hazards of celebritydome is a loss of privacy. Bobby Fischer, who was once pursued, overtaken, and mobbed by a group of fans in Buenos Aires in 1971, tries to be as anonymous as possible.

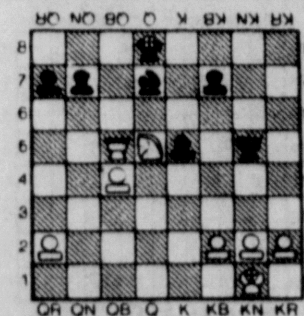

Therefore, we were not surprised to learn several months later in an article in the British magazine "Chess" by Frank Brady that in March of 1975 Bobby had "quietly slipped into N.Y. for two weeks."

Fischer was "twenty pounds heavier than he'd been in Reykjavik and sporting a full, large and flowing beard and moustache!"

But to little avail.

As he entered a taxicab, the driver immediately said: "By the way, you're Bobby Fischer, aren't you?"

—BEGINNERS CORNER-hint and explanation: Reposition the queen by checking; then check some more.

"The cabdriver was not the only one who recognized Fischer. As he travelled by bus or walked in the street, other people — mostly chessplayers — would spot him and the word spread through the chess clubs that Fischer was in town."

No wonder Fischer is so secretive.

"PRODIGY" BECOMES INTERNATIONAL MASTER

A recent addition to U.S. International Master ranks is Brooklyn's 25-year-old Salvatore Matera. One of chess teacher John Collins' "seven prodigies" (the other six were Bobby Fischer, Bill Lombardy, Robert and Donald Byrne, Raymond Weinstein, and Lewis Cohen), Sal is a player of outstanding ability who can't miss becoming a grandmaster, if he is given the chance.

Here is the endgame wind-up of his well-known 1974 victory over Hungarian grandmaster Sax.

Matera's pieces galvanize into action with 25. . . B-B3! Despite some apparent "weaknesses" in his pawn structure, his superior mobility wins easily.

Reproduced fat lamps imported

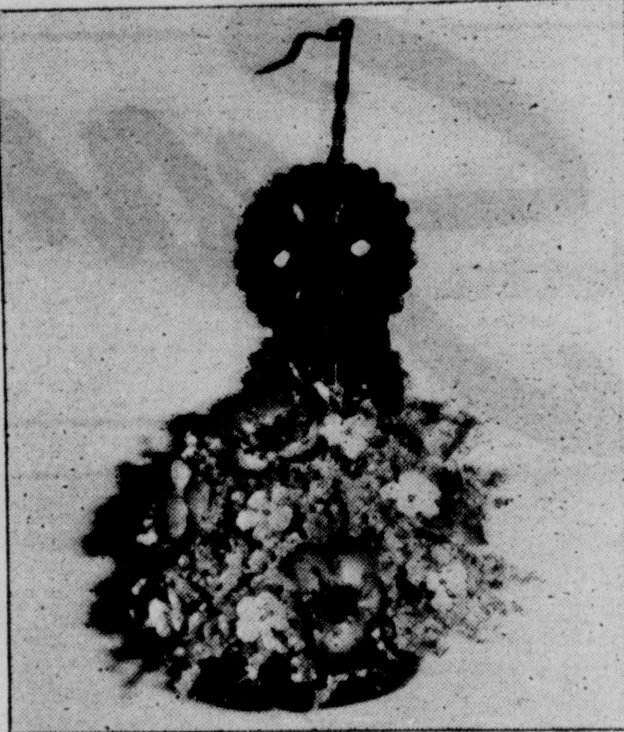

QUESTION: I purchased this little fat lamp about three years ago, thinking it was truly an antique at the time, but now I'm uncertain of its age. I paid $12 for it at a flea market.

While viewing early lighting examples at a museum last summer, I noticed that similar lamps (different patterned backs) had a notched arm that extended outward for the smaller pan to rest on. That particular portion on my lamp is perfectly straight and shows no signs of wear. Have lamps like the one shown in the enclosure been made in recent years?

To hide this back portion, I discovered that these little lamps are quite attractive for small floral arrangements. Your opinion will be most appreciated. Mrs. C.R.C.

ANSWER: A variety of new double crusie (also known as Phoebe lamp) fat lamps have been imported during recent years — many having interesting pattern backs like yours — minus the notched arm for the smaller lamp. Moreover, the price is yet another clue that the lamp is probably new, since most dealers don't have the courage to price a reproduction on the same level as an authentic antique.

The UN Postal Administration's last stamp of 1976 puts the spotlight on a gigantic universal problem — hunger. The new stamp honors the World Food Council which functions as a coordinating body concerning itself with food products, nutrition, food trade and aid within the UN system.

The 13-cent stamp in blue and yellow shows an ear of wheat blending into several flags. The marginal inscriptions are in the four UN languages. The UN emblem is at the top right corner. At the bottom is the denomination and the wording "World Food Council."

Also issued on the same date was a new 9-cent definitive stamp to meet the most recent domestic postal card rate. The colors are gold, red, yellow, blue and black. The design depicts the United Nations seal within a multicolored framework.

If you would like to purchase these or any other UNPA material, write to United Nations Postal Administration, P.O. Box 5900, New York, N.Y. 10017.

The Republic of South Africa has issued a new set of four stamps featuring sports activities. Although each stamp illustrates a different sport and the name of the activity, one adhesive focuses attention on South Africa's most famous athlete, golfer Gary Player, and shows him completing his swing. The other sports are polo, cricket and field bowling. All the stamps have the same denomination, 15 cents.

The 1976 supplement to the noted Minkus Supreme Global and Master Global Albums has just been released. Collectors can bring their albums up to date with this new supplement of 512 alphabetically-indexed, clearly illustrated pages. They are also punched to fit the Comprehensive and New World Wide Stamp Albums by Minkus.

Featured are the latest issues from all stamp-issuing countries, including the new nations of Guinea-Bissau and Tuvalu. The new supplement, complete with protective box, costs $7.95.

The 30th anniversary of the Australia to Ohio non-stop flight by the P2V "Truculent Turtle" is hailed in the continuing Milestone of Flight series (No. 44) sponsored by the National Air and Space Museum of the Smithsonian Institution.

The record-breaking long distance flight began Sept. 29, 1946, at Perth, Australia, and ended Oct. 1 — 55¼ hours and 11,822 miles later — at Columbus, Ohio, where the crew landed because of a dwindling fuel supply. Had the weather been more cooperative the Navy crew would have flown on to Bermuda.

The cost of this distinctively cacheted cover is $1.25. It can be ordered from: Milestone of Flight, National Air and Space Museum, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C. 20560. The famous "Truculent Turtle" is in the collection of the Museum but is currently on loan.

Chinatown's preparing for 'Year of the Snake'

"Gung hay fat choy!"

It is a little early to hear this traditional Chinese New Year's Day greeting ("best wishes, congratulations and prosperity") on the streets of Los Angeles' Chinatown, but it is not too early for the residents and shopkeepers to start preparations for the festivities at the end of January that will greet the Year of the Snake.

The two-week celebration includes band concerts, dances, stage performances, a beauty pageant, bonsai exhibition, carnival, fashion show, cooking demonstrations, sports, Chinese songs and dances and always the great parade with a thousand firecrackers going off as floats and marching groups pass, with the ceremonial lion and dragon prancing to the rhythmic beat of huge drums and gongs and the clash of cymbals.

The boundaries of Chinatown, where several thousand Chinese and other Orientals have homes and businesses, are not sharply defined, but they center around a core between Yale Street and North Broadway, and between College Street and Bernard Street. It is a tidy, compact community with shops, banks, theaters, restaurants and galleries done in traditional Oriental architecture on streets with such names as Jung Jing Road, Bamboo Lane and Gin Ling Way.

Within the central community are the Chungking Court, the Wishing Well with the Storks of Longevity, the Kwangchow Temple, the new Mandarin Plaza, and the tree-shaded Central Plaza, centered around a seated statue of Sun Yat-Sen, with an engraved tribute to the founding father of the Republic of China.

The first permanent Chinese settlement in Los Angeles occurred in 1856 when three men settled in the city, according to historian Bill Mason of the county Museum of Natural History. The Oriental population grew slowly. Chinese raised vegetables, opened laundries, fished in their junks off Catalina Island and the Palos Verdes Peninsula, and worked as domestics in the homes of whites. The area known as Chinatown a century ago lay between the Los Angeles Plaza and Arcadia Street on Negro Alley, a short street about 50 feet wide and a block long. Because of racial bias, Chinese found it difficult to buy land and build homes in other parts of the city.

Chinese laborers made up a large part of the crews that built the transcontinental railroad, and when it was completed in the 1860s, the Oriental population of Los Angeles greatly increased. In the middle 1930s the eastern half of Old Chinatown was demolished to make way for Union Station, and New Chinatown sprang up on North Spring Street.

Today the Chinatown of Los Angeles is a clean, bright colorful center, gracefully merging the old traditions of the East with the modern lifestyle of Western America.

"We are, in essence, a community within a community," says David Fon Lee, president of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles.

Visitors and tourists find every conceivable service and product offered — Mei Lan Florist, Mon Kee Fish & Produce, Golden Pagoda Restaurant, Wah Wing Sang Funeral Corporation, Cathay Pharmacy, Chung Mee Cafe, Phoenix Bakery, Air Siam, Man Jen Low (General Lee's restaurant), Wai Sang Meat Company.

At night the city within a city comes alive with myriad colored lights, lanterns and bright signs. Restaurants and curio shops do a thriving business; rock and popular American music pours from night clubs and restaurants — Hong Kong Low, the Golden Pagoda, Quon Brothers Grand Star, Madame Wong's.

Though the commercial life of Chinatown is largely Oriental, the tourist sees such signs as Johnny's liquor, Hoover Garment Company, Jimmy's auto park and Gutierrez-Weber Mortuary. Across the street is Little Joe's Italian restaurant; nearby is Olvera Street and the Los Angeles Plaza.

"The Los Angeles colony is one of the few Chinatowns in the United States that is completely owned by the Chinese," says Mason. "This is not true of the Chinatowns in San Francisco or New York."

The Los Angeles Chinatown is a colorful, flourishing community throughout the year, but it will be even more exciting at the end of January when thousands of residents and tourists welcome the Year of the Snake.

ON THE COVER

Although Christmas still lies ahead, the thousands of residents of Los Angeles' Chinatown already are preparing for the Chinese New Year at the end of January when they will welcome the Year of the Snake. At top, neon lights adorn the carved figureheads on the East Gate of the community. Below, a seated statue of Sun Yat-Sen, looks out over the Central Plaza.

Store holding joint grand opening, Yule celebration

Pomona's M & I Surplus store has moved to a new and greatly expanded location and owner Bud Matthews is planning a joint grand opening and Christmas celebration today and Sunday.

For nine years the store was situated at 2605 N. Garey Ave., cramped into 2,000 square feet.

It now is comfortably and expansively housed in a former market at 2090 N. Garey Ave. with 12,800 square feet of floor space.

Santa Claus will be at the store today from noon to 8:30 p.m. with free candy for children. He will return on Sunday from noon to 5 p.m.

Store hours until Christmas will be 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

After Christmas, regular store hours will be from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Friday, 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

"Our stock has been increased since the move," said Matthews. "We're adding new lines, trying to stock more but we're still basically a military store and we try to pick up all the government surplus we possibly can."

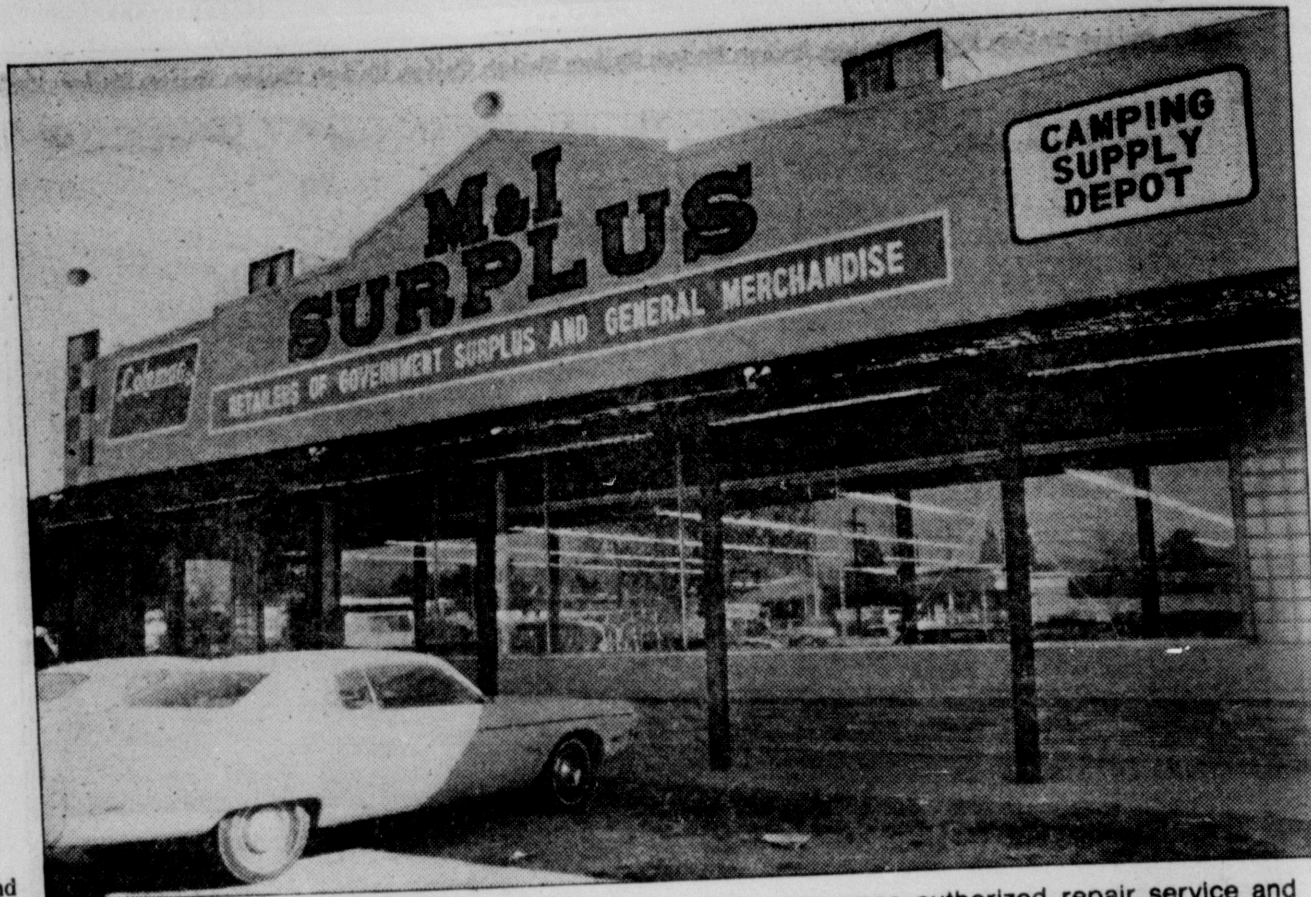

For those Christmas shoppers with boys and men on their lists, M & I Surplus is an ideal place to buy.

Matthews has large selections of hunting knives, batteries, flashlights, military patches, tents, sleeping bags, camping stoves, trunks, gas cans, cots, mattresses, a variety of rain gear, more hats than the Captain, coolers, sox, jackets, gloves, shirts, shoes, ropes and yards and yards of parachute material.

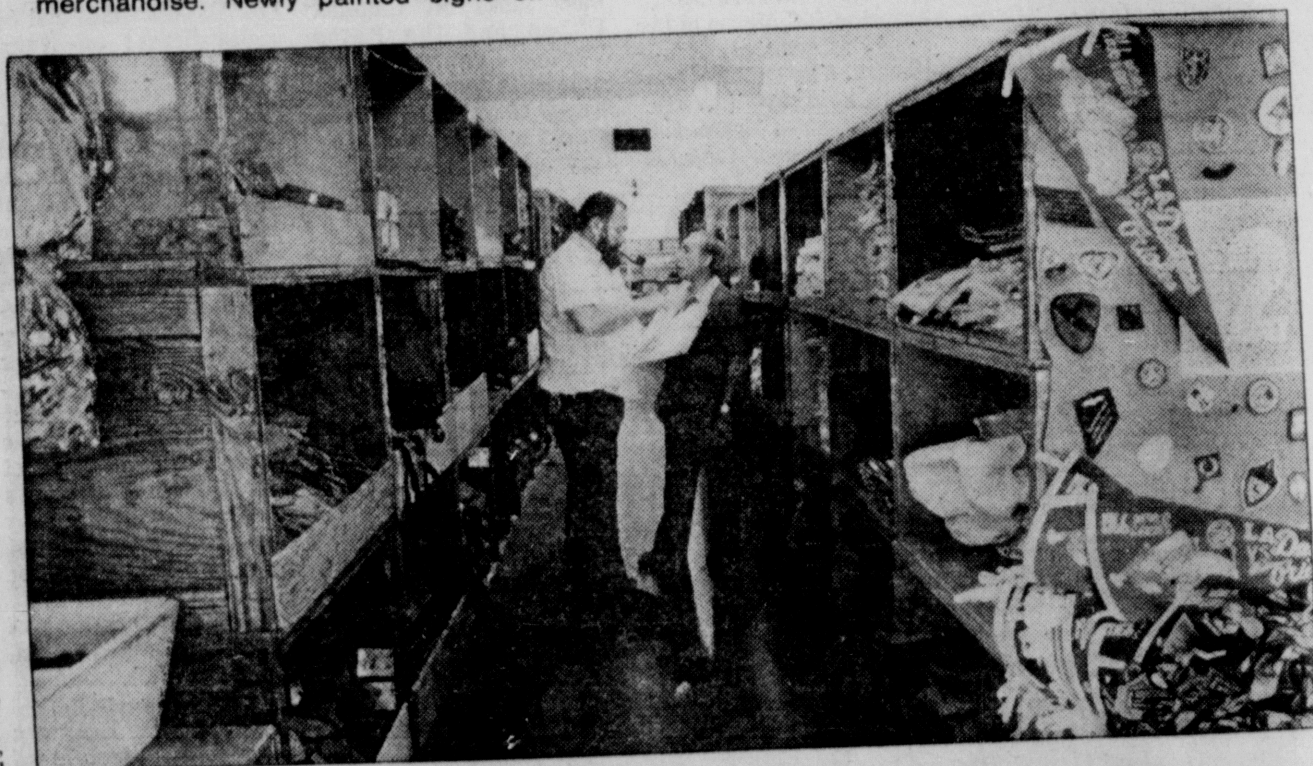

M & I Surplus has literally thousands of military surplus items including complete camouflage uniforms, equipment belts, helmets and dummy bullets.

Matthews and his wife, Beverly, run the store. Others who assist are 76-year-old Grandpa Charlie, Margaret Wright, Paul Lewis, Sandy Morrison and Glen Churchill, repairman who staffs the store's authorized Coleman Service Center.

Matthews and his brother, Dexter, share duties as store Santa each Christmas. Delsi, a German shepherd, assists with store security.

Large windows allow for ample display of merchandise. Newly painted signs on store front announce authorized repair service and types of items stocked.

Claremont High Interact Club's formal scheduled

By AMY GUSMAN
Claremont Correspondent
Although it probably won't be a very snowy Christmas season, "Snowflakes and Sleighbells" is the theme of the Interact Club sponsored holiday formal at Claremont High School.

It seems that the Interact Club is faithfully trying to keep up that "White Christmas" spirit, even in sunny California.

The holiday formal will be held Dec. 18 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Platt Hall at Harvey Mudd College is the site for the semi-formal event. Platt Hall is becoming the traditional home of the formal. It has been held there the last three years.

Tickets are $4 with an ASB card and $4.50 without. There is a 200-couple limit on ticket sales since Platt Hall can only accommodate 400 people.

"We had about 250 people attend the formal last year," said Sherie Benzon, president of Interact. According to her, that is about the average attendance record for a formal, so she encourages people to buy tickets as soon as possible.

The band featured at this yuletide festivity is "Half Moon." Rich Martinez, photography teacher at Claremont, is in charge of pictures.

The Interact Club is an extension of the Claremont Rotary Club, a men's service organization. Interact is also a service club, but unlike Rotary, it is coed.

This year the club has the special distinction of having an all-female cabinet. Sherie is assisted by Laura Holzinger, vice president and Sue McKinley, secretary-treasurer.

Esper Keiser is faculty adviser.

Both Rotary and Interact are international clubs. "There are branches all over the world," explained Sherie. "We think it would be neat to write to an Interact Club in Argentina or Brazil or somewhere and see how they operate."

The Claremont branch of Interact is quite a busy operation. Members are not only in charge of the holiday formal, but are responsible for football program sales as well as service projects for the school and community.

They hope to be able to buy a gift for the high school at the end of the year with the money they have earned from their projects.

Interact's rival club is the Key Club, also a service club at Claremont High School.

Although Key Club is larger than Interact, more than 50 members compared to 25, Sherie believes that what Interact lacks in size it makes up in strength.

Juniors win volleyball intramurals

By SUSAN BERGMANN
Pomona Catholic

Volleyball intramurals finished last week with the juniors coming out on top. The junior team beat the seniors, sophomores and freshmen to finish undefeated.

The other teams each won one game and lost two to tie for second place. The athletic juniors also won the Powder Puff football game with a score of 8-0.

Volleyball intramural tryouts will take place Monday after school for all those interested.

The volleyball games will be played Jan. 4-6.

Tryouts for basketball took place this week for the varsity and junior varsity teams. Their season also begins in January.

Two girls from the varsity volleyball team recently were chosen to be on an all-league team. Liz Rodriguez, a senior, and Diane Lisby, a junior, were chosen from Pomona Catholic to be on the San Antonio League team. The girls were chosen on the basis of their serves, sets and skills for the season. Liz had a 98.4 per cent record when she hit the ball. She made only three mistakes the whole season. Diane made 94.8 per cent on her tries.

Pomona High displays its Christmas spirit

By ROLAND SOLVATO
Pomona Correspondent

The Christmas spirit is rapidly overtaking the campus of Pomona High School.

This week was declared "Christmas Celebration Week."

Each day activities were planned. Monday there was a soda-pop drinking contest won by Tony Buchanan.

On Wednesday there was a tree-decorating contest for the active clubs on campus, and Santa made his grand appearance, wishing everyone a "Merry Christmas."

Thursday there was a skateboard contest, and on Friday, an assembly was held featuring the jazz band and choir.

To finish the week, a dance was held Friday night and the queen of the Christmas dance and her court were announced.

Garey High stages its first swap meet

By MICHAEL SUNDIN
Garey Correspondent

Today in the student parking lot the first swap meet of Garey High's history will be held. It began at 7 a.m. and runs into mid-afternoon with an admission at the gate of 25 cents per person.

Lots of merchandise will be offered for sale. It was solicited throughout the community, but mainly from Garey student body clubs.

All solicitators are allowed to sell anything but food. The developmental and remedial reading classes at Garey have monopolized this area and are selling hot dogs and soft drinks. They are responsible for making the swap meet happen.

The swap meet is just one of the "capital ideas" which the reading classes, led by Donna Douty and Darrell Ruppel, have come up with for raising money.

It will fit into an intricate plan by which $1,000 of $7,000 which is needed to send 30 students to

Washington, D.C., next spring will hopefully be raised.

The trip is hoped to give the remedial reading students practical application as well as help increase their motivation for learning.

Washington, D.C., was chosen after the students had studied U.S. history this semester.

The motivation and practical education factors are significantly important as there are seven different languages represented.

Damien freshmen elect their first class officers

By MARTIN RAMIREZ
Damien Correspondent

Damien High School's freshman class has elected its first class officers.

They are Luis Martinez, president; Joe Cameli, vice president; Richard Kim, treasurer and Andy Chang, secretary.

These officers have established numerous goals for the year and are eager to assume their duties in earnest.

They were officially sworn in at an inauguration ceremony held in conjunction with a Mass for members of the freshman class.

Recently three senior members of the staff of the Spartan Laconian, the school newspaper, were inducted into Quill and Scroll, the honorary journalism society for high school students.

Outstanding high school seniors in chemistry, math and physics have been honored for academic achievements by U.C. Riverside's fifth annual Recognition Awards Program.

Damien students receiving this recognition are Steve Musarra, chemistry; Mark Grannen, math; and Matt Foley, physics. Each received a certificate and a reference manual entitled "Handbook of Chemistry and Physics."

Alta Loma's Christmas formal goes backwards

The Christmas formal at Alta Loma High School takes on a new twist this year. The traditional formal will be a backwards dance.

Sponsored by the student body, the dance will be held in the boys gym on Dec. 18 from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m.

Music will be provided by "Moonshine." Tickets are $3.50 per couple with ASB cards and $4 without.

Some 120 students from Alta Loma High School's California history classes will visit the San Gabriel Mission and Olivera Street in Los Angeles on Wednesday.

Instructor Cris Portillo said the students have spent a great deal of time studying California in the time of the Gold Rush and those areas are examples of that period.

Students will travel by bus.

Korean lass seeks area 'pen pals'

Yun Sook Oh is a 16-year-old Korean girl looking for pen pals.

"I am a monitor at my school and a leader of the English Club," she wrote. "My address is Yum Sook Oh, c/o English Club, 18-59, Sixth St., Eulji-ro, Jung-gu, Seoul, Korea."

Yun Sook Oh said she is anxious to get a chance to practice English.

"Korean middle and high school students learn English as a required subject," she writes. "We have English class five times a week, but it is very difficult for us to speak and write in English."

"Every grade has an English Club and each club has about 30-50 members. We are very eager to get a chance to practice English, and it is the best time for us to invite some Americans in Seoul to our club. We often enjoy talking with them."

"Our English teacher suggested that it might be a good way to get overseas pen pals to improve our English."

"We were very excited about it, and I have written to some pen pal clubs in the USA, but most of them haven't answered me, or they wanted some membership fees."

"We were very disappointed at the reply, and many members of our club wanted me to write to you directly."

"We are anxious to learn more about your country, geography, history, culture, people, customs, daily life, holidays, educational system and favorite things."

"We also would like to have a chance to tell about ours to you. And, I think this correspondence will contribute to the increase of mutual understanding between the two countries."

"I promise you I will do my best so that all the letters I receive will be answered regardless of age, sex and religion by our students."

Yule cheer, events slated

By MELISSA CLESCERI
Ganesha Correspondent

Ganesha is getting into the yuletide spirit with Christmas Week Dec. 13-17.

The week consists of daily events to bring Christmas cheer to the student body.

Monday will bring a faculty versus Student Council basketball game. Tuesday is dress-up day with students dressing as toys or elves, or anything befitting the Christmas season. Cream the Santa is another yule event. Cream the Santa is a game in which teams from two classes dress their partners up as Old St. Nick, using shaving cream.

Wednesday is the traditional door decoration. Each campus club will decorate the door of its choice. Undoubtedly doors will be covered with snowmen and Santas tailored to the Christmas season.

Thursday is Bag the Santa Day, in which students throw bean bags through the nose of a giant Santa head.

The week is climaxed by a dance Friday night at Taylor Hall in Claremont. It will begin at 8 p.m. and end at midnight. The "Mambo Spud" band will play.

The entire week was coordinated by freshman commissioner Tammie Kearns, along with another Student Council member, Cathy Pine. Both girls are positive Christmas Week will be a success.

Along with Christmas Week, Ganesha clubs are participating in a canned food drive. The canned food collected will be given to the needy.

Mello captures science award

Arnold S. Mello of Ontario has been named winner of the annual Bausch & Lomb Science Award at Montclair High School.

The award, a bronze medal, is presented each year to winners in the United States and Canada.

Mello is eligible to compete for one of several four-year Bausch & Lomb Science scholarships at the University of Rochester in New York.

Winners are selected on the basis of merit, and stipends are based on need. They could range up to $4,500 a year.

Food drive set by A.L. students

The Movimiento Estudiantil Chicano de Atzlan Club (MECHA) at Alta Loma High School will hold its second canned food drive Dec. 13 to Dec. 17.

The first drive was held just before the Thanksgiving holiday.

President Delfino Anguiano said students are being asked to bring canned food to the Student Center so baskets can be prepared and delivered to needy family groups in the area.

Assisting are other club officers. They are Mona Urteaga and Debbie Serna, vice presidents; Suzie Urteaga, secretary; Raymond Anguiano, treasurer; Robert Sandoval, sergeant-at-arms; and Arnold Urteaga and Suzanne Reyes, student government representatives.

Roseann Gonzales is adviser.

The annual Christmas concert at Alta Loma High School will be held Dec. 15 at 8 p.m. in the auditorium. Admission is free.

Groups performing will be the Chamber Singers, a cappella choir, girls chorus and Barbershop Harmonizers.
